Hints to Agriculturists.

Rules in Raising Poultry.—1. All young chickens, ducks, geese, and turkeys, should be kept under cover, out of the weather, during the 2. Twice or thrice a week, pepper, sh llots, hives or garlic, should be mixed up with their

3. A small lump of assafeetida should be placed the pan in which their water is given them to

A. Whenever they manifest disease, by the coping of the wings, or any other outward m, of ill health, a little assafeetida broken into all lumps, should be mixed with their food.

Chickens which are kept from the dunghill be young, seldom have the gapes; therefore it lid be the object of those who have the charge hem so to confine the hens as to preclude it young from the range of barn or stable-reds.

3. Should any of the chickens have the gapes, z up small portions of assafætida, rhubarb, d pepper in fresh butter, and give each chick-as much of the mixture as will lie upon one-

If the bowl of a small teaspoon.

7. For the pip, the following treatment is juous:—Take off the indurated covering on the at of the tongue, and give twice a day, for two three days, a piece of garlic, the size of a pea. garlic cannot be obtained, onion, shallot, or nives, will answer; but if neither of these be onvenient, two grains of black pepper, to be given in butter, will answer.

8. For the snuffles, the same remedies as for the gapes will be found highly curative; but in addition to them, it will be necessary to melt a little assafortida in fresh butter, rub the chicken about the nostrils, taking care to clean them out. 9. Grown-up ducks are sometimes taken off rapidly by convulsions; in such case, four drops, of rhubarb and four grains of cayenne pepper, mixed in fresh butter, should be administered. Last year we lost several by the disease, and this year the same symptoms manifest themselves among them; but we arrested the malady without the same a single duck by a dose of the above redi losing a single duck, by a dose of the above medi-cine to such as were ill. One of the ducks was at the time paralysed, but was thus saved.

Points in a Good Hosse.—In purchasing a good horse, sight, wind, feet and limbs must be the uppermost objects of inquiry; for nine horses out of ten are defective in one of these particulars. First, then, examine his eyes, and do the before he comes out of the stable; see that they are perfectly clear and transparent, and that the pupils or apples of the eye are exactly alike in size and color. Next examine his pipes; if good and sound, on being nipped in the gullet, he will atter a sound like that from a bellows; but if his lungs are touched and he is broken winded, he will give vent to a dry, husky, short cough; look to his limbs also, and in passing your hands down his legs, if you find any unnatural protuberance, or puffiness, or if feeling first one leg then the other, you discover any difference between them, disease, more or less, is present; he may not be lame, but he is not clean upon his legs. If he is broad and full between the ever, he may be debroad and full between the eyes, he may be de-pended on as a horse of good sense, and capable of being trained to almost anything. If you want a gentle horse, get one with more or less white upon him; many suppose that the parti-colored horses belonging to circuses, shows. &c., are selected for their oddity; but it is on account of their docility and gentleness; in fact, the more kindly you treat horses, the better you will be treated by them in return.—Spirit of the Times.

EFFECTS OF CHARCOAL ON FLOWERS .- The following extract cannot fail to be interesting to the botanist and chemist, as well as to every lady who has a rose-bush in her garden, or a flowerpot in her parlor. It is from the Paris Horticultural Review. The experiments described were made by Robert Berauds, who says:—"About a year ago I made a bargain for a rose-bush of magnificent growth and full buds. I waited for them to blow, and expected roses worthy of such a plant, and of the praise bestowed upon it by the vender. At length, when it bloomed, all my hopes were blasted. The flowers were of a faded color, and I discovered that I had only a middling multiflora, stale-colored enough. I therefore resolved to sacrifice it to some experiments which I had in new. My attention had been captivated with the effect of charcoal, as stated in some English publications. I then covered the earth in which my rose-bud was, about half an inch deep with pulverized charcoal. Some days after, I was astonished to see the rose, which bloomed of as fine a lively rose color as I could

MILK AND BUTTER-ADVANTAGES AND QUALITY. -How many quarts of milk will produce a pound of butter is a question the answer of which de-pends very much upon circumstances. "Some trings may be done as well as others," as Mr. Plummer said when he cast his electoral vote for John Q. Adams, at the re-election of James Monre in 1821. A cow will give about twice as much milk the first year after casing as she will the second year (everything else being equal), and yet it is held by many good farmers that she will make as much butter the second as the first year, and of finer quality. The last two quarts of a cow's milk, at a milking of eight quarts, will contain about as much cream as the first six quarts. Now, I do not say the breeders of fancy stock cows would resort to this stratagem—use the last two quarts of two different milkings to obtain a pound of butter. O, no! I would merely suggest that "some things may be done as well as others." I once heard a man who was in the practice of selling two-thirds of his milk, and Planmer said when he cast his electoral vote for others." I once heard a man who was in the practice of selling two-thirds of his milk, and made about as much butter as when he sold no milk. If the editor of the Ploughman, or any other person, has a cow that will produce a pound of butter from four quarts of milk, the first year after calving, I venture the opinion that the product depends upon things aside from the quality of the breed.—N. E. Farmer.

TO MAKE BREAD WITHOUT YEAST .- The following receipt, which we believe first appeared in Life Illustrated, has been tested and highly approved in the culinary department of our family:

For some time past I have eaten very excellent bread raised with yeast in the following manner:

Take as much pulverized saleratus as will lay on a dime, the same quantity of sale a dime, the same quantity of salt, and a tea-spoonful of sugar. On these three articles pour a pint of boiling water. When sufficiently cool, as as not to change the nature of the flour, stir in as much as will make it into a stiff batter. The vessel containing this batter must be placed into another vessel containing water quite warm, but not so hot as to cook the flour in the least, and the whole must be kept standing in a warm place until the batter nearly doubles in bulk, which will take about six hours. This yeast may then be added to flour enough to make two good-sized loaves of bread, mixed with warm water, and a tenspoonful of salt, if liked, placed in the puns and left standing in a warm placed a short time before baking.

GLUE IMPERVIOUS TO WATER.—If a coating of glue or size he brushed over with a decoction of one part of powdered gall nuts in twelve of water, induced to eight parts and strain d, it becomes hard, and as solid and impervious to water as a coat of oil paint; in fact, a kind of leather is formed.

To wake Whitewash that will not are off.

Mix up half a pailful of lime and water ready to put on the wale; then take one gill of flour and mix it with the water; then pour on it boiling water sufficient to thicken it; pour it while hot into the whitewash; stir all well together; and it is sende for your and it is ready for nes.

To the Farmer and Dealers in Agricultural Implements.

PLEASE READ.—Having crected a good shop, with facilities not heretofore possessed by any in this State for manufacturing Agricultural Implements, I beg leave to announce that I am now properly under way with that business. I supply none but the best and most experienced mechanics, and work no material but the best. In this way I hope to promote the interest of the good mechanic, the interest of the farmer, the interest of our young and growing Agricultural State, and at the same time that interest which is foremost with all mankind—self. I have had twenty years' experience in the manufacturing business; I established the first stop, and made the first stop plew in the State of Wisconsin, in the dawn of her day of great agricultural improvement. I also made the first steaping and Moving machine, and the first steel plow ever made in this State. Therefore, with my experience and a knowledge of the waste of the country, (which are different from most others,) I feel could dent that I can and will do much for the interest of the sprind-dent that I can and will do much for the interest of the agriculturists of this country; and in my efforts I true I shall must with a good share of patronage from the farmer, and all interested in this matter, and in the interest and development of the agricultural improvement of our State. I design, and have under way, the manufacturing of 1500 CAST STEEL CALIFORNIA DEEP TILLER OR QUEEN OF THE WEST PLOWS.

The mould board, the landside and shear are manufactured of cast steel, making the plow run much lighter than any plow ever used in this country. Also, GANG PLOWS, CULTIVATORS, HARROWS, PARK MILLS, 4c., 4c.
In addition to what I manufacture, I shall emetantly be receiving implements from the best makes of the Ensura and Western States, amongst which are 600 CINCINNATI EAGLE STEEL & ROYER PLOWS. a shipment of which has just arrived. These plows stand, in point of true merit and worth, altogether higher than any others in the great agricultural State of Ohio.

Please avor me with a call and see for yourself, and be soo virced that I am publishing no humbug, but simply facts as shey are, and that our young State can within itself already previde the farmer with implements inferior to none now in use.

Any article I manufacture will have all the latest improvements, and be finished in a workmanlike manner.

All kinds of agricultural implements and machines repaired on short notice, and in the best manner, and on reasonable terms.

To the Owners, and Persons interested in Whaleships in the Pacific Ocean.

OFFICE OF THE PARAMA RAIT-ROAD COMPARY, NEW YORK, July 20, 1867.

The Panama Rail-Road Company takes this method of informing those interested in the Whaling business, of the advantages offered by the Railroad across the Isthmus of Panama, for the shipment of the united States, and for sending outlits and supplies from the United States, and for sending outlits and supplies from the United States, and for sending outlits and supplies from the United States to Panama.

The Railroad has been in regular and successful operation for more than two years, and its capacity for the transportation at every description of merchandise, including Oil, Provisions, and has been fully tested. The attention of several Cuptains of whaleships has recently been turned to the subject of shipping their oil from Panama to New York during the present season, and the Panama Rail-Road Company has made arrangement to afford every facility which may be required for the accomplishment of this important object. A Piler, 450 feet long, because hull in the bay of Panama, to the end of which Praight Cars are run to receive cargoes from lighters or vessels lyna alongside, and deliver the same alongside of vensels at Aspinall. Vessels of from 300 to 300 tons can lie at the Pier with safety, grounding in the mud at low water.

The vessels to and from Aspinwall are fast-salling brigs, bullonging to the Rail-Road Company, and the Company is propared to receive oil at Panama and deliver it in New York under the rest of saven.
